

You are invited to join a unique workshop on

Values-based parenting

These workshops are interactive and innovative, using puppets, role-play and discussion to encourage parenting skills that are practical and empowering.

Values-based parenting can:

- Help create an environment of mutual respect between parents and children.
- Enable parents to communicate effectively with their children.
- Motivate children to develop better behaviours without them feeling burdened.

Please e-mail nechoma@taginstitute.org to discuss running a workshop in your school or community.